

Update – Natursutten soothers back in Australia!

These fab dummies weren't available in Australia for a while but now they're back! We last wrote about Natursutten Soothers in June 2008 and now Eco Child have just received a shipment after a hiatus.

The Organic Pacifier by Natursutten is just as the name suggests. Organic. It's made from pure, natural rubber. That means no allergy-causing nasties or chemicals, no artificial colours and no PVCs. The one-piece moulding means there's no little cracks or crevices for germs to hide. And our favourite bit? Your baby can suck it as much as they like and it won't leave those tell-tale dummy marks on their face. They're also fully biodegradable.

The Organic Pacifier comes in orthodontic or round versions in sizes to suit from newborn to toddler. Grab them online at Eco Child for $9.95 each plus postage.

Posted by Suzi Catchpole on January 25, 2011 in Misc
Tagged dummies, Natursutten, newborn

ADD TO WISHLIST

SHARE THIS

COMMENTS (3)

RELATED

3 Comments

These are without a doubt the best dummy ever. They may not look like the cutesy ones on the market, but i'd use nothing else. I thought my son did look cute with this in his mouth, and i could drive/sleep/put him down without fear of the dummy causing him to choke. I'd encourage anyone using a different kind of dummy to take a good look at the parts of it, and think just how easy it is to come apart, and the result could be horrendous... For the sake of a dollar or two extra, and the "cute" factor being slightly downgraded, this is my pick every time!! So glad that they are back at Eco Child, in time for my second baby, YAY!!!

Jessica

Posted January 30, 2011. Link to this comment

If they're ever unavailable again – keep searching – I bought mine direct from germany via eBay... not expensive either courtney

Posted February 1, 2011. Link to this comment

I absolutely recommend these; a friend introduced me to them on a trip to Germany, my older son was already almost out of dummies by then but he loved them so much that he kept his very last dummy in a special box as a memory for life. His little brother was started on Goldy dummies (that's their original name in Germany) and is loving them. And I don't have to worry about harmful materials or damage to his developing jaw.

Tina

Posted February 1, 2011. Link to this comment

